OET Mock Test – Dentist

Setting: Suburban clinic

Dentist: A 25-year-old patient has come to the dental clinic for a routine check-up. The patient reports yellowish and stained teeth despite brushing twice a day and sensitivity while eating hot or cold food.

- Listen to the patient's concerns about the appearance and sensitivity of their teeth.
- Examine the patient's teeth to determine the possible causes of staining and sensitivity.
- Discuss with the patient the available treatment options for teeth whitening and sensitivity, such as professional teeth cleaning, teeth whitening treatment, or fluoride application.

- Advise the patient on good oral hygiene practices, such as regular brushing and flossing, using a soft-bristled toothbrush, and avoiding acidic or sugary food and drinks.
- Suggest dietary changes or lifestyle modifications that can improve the patient's oral health and prevent future dental issues.
- Schedule follow-up appointments for the patient to monitor the effectiveness of the treatment plan and address any further concerns.
