

OET Speaking Practice Test - Nurse Role Play Cards

OET Mock Test – Nurse

Setting: Hospital ward

Patient: You are a 50-year-old patient who has been hospitalized for the past few days due to severe abdominal pain. You have undergone various tests, but the results have been inconclusive. You feel anxious and frustrated as your condition is not improving, and the pain is becoming unbearable. You are worried about missing work and the financial burden of prolonged hospitalization.

Task:

- Express your frustration and anxiety about the inconclusive results and worsening pain.
- Ask the nurse if there are any other tests or treatments that can be done.
- Share your concerns about missing work and financial strain.
- Request for pain relief medication and ask if there are any non-pharmacological methods to manage the pain.
- Ask for advice on how to cope with the anxiety and stress related to the hospitalization.
- Agree to follow the prescribed treatment plan and schedule any necessary follow-up appointments.

OET Mock Test – Nurse

Setting: Hospital ward

Nurse: A 50-year-old patient has been hospitalized for the past few days due to severe abdominal pain. The patient is frustrated and anxious as the tests have been inconclusive, and the pain has worsened. The patient is worried about the financial burden and missing work.

- Acknowledge the patient's frustration and anxiety about the current situation.
- Explain the test results and that the medical team is working to find a diagnosis and treatment.

- Discuss with the patient any non-pharmacological methods of pain management and prescribe pain relief medication as necessary.
- Address the patient's concerns about financial strain and work and offer resources or support as available.
- Provide advice on coping mechanisms for stress and anxiety related to hospitalization, such as mindfulness or talking to a counselor.
- Schedule follow-up appointments as necessary and encourage the patient to continue with the prescribed treatment plan.